HORSE AND TRACK.

What the Flyers Are Doing At Home and Abroad.

Friday was the closing day of the Versailles Fair, and the meeting was a success in every particular.

The Campbellsville Fair had an attendance of 10,000 people on Friday, where the trots attracted great attention.

Agate has at last been beaten. Trevilian, a Lexington horse, proved too much for the Californian with 2:00 1/4 mark.

Ralph Wilkes won the $2,000 purse at Rochester, N. Y., Friday, in the 2:15 class, in straight heats. Time—2:12, 2:13, 2:14.

The 2:20 trot for 2-year-olds, purse $1,500, at Terre Haute, was won by Oakland in two straight heats. Time—2:23 1/2, 2:10 1/2.

Flying Dutchman, the 2-year-old runner has been sold by W. L. Simmons, of Lexington, to Pat Duggan, of Chicago, for $15,000.

Dr. Lockhart, of Exet, will be here this week with his colts for the Fair. The Hazel Green track will be alive with horses by Saturday.

The Review $15,000 purse will be contended for September 11 at Terre Haute. Billy Parks, Bouncer and Axinite will start in the race.

There are seven or eight horses at the Fair Ground track in training for the Fair, and more than one of them have gone quarters in forty seconds.

A fine Bell Boy stallion belonging to a Mr. Thompson, of Louisville, broke away from his groom at Lexington and was killed by a moving train.

Locky Sims last Friday won five out of six mounts, 5 the Jerome Park races, and got second place with his sixth horse, which was a rank outsider.

Outcast, the famous thoroughbred stallion belonging to S. Y. Keene, Georgetown, was destroyed in a burning barn at that place some ten days ago.

Trevilian won the 2:15 class at Terre Haute last week, trotting the first heat in 2:09 1/2, the third in 2:10, and the fourth in 2:11. Ora Wilkes winning the second heat in 2:11.

The Driving Club of Grand Rapids, Mich., is said to have suffered a financial loss of $8,800 during their recent meeting. Hal Pulinski won the $300 pacing race Friday. Time—2:20, 2:20, 2:20.

Alix, the great race mare, won the $3,000 Free For All trot at Terre Haute, beating Lymont T. 2:47 1/2; Belle Vana, 2:58 1/2, and others as good. Time—2:06, 2:06 1/2, which is the fastest three heats ever trotted.

Van Robin, ch. g., won the $400 purse in the 2:40 class at the Versailles Fair last Friday, going three straight heats in 2:21 1/2, 2:19 1/2, 2:20. At the same place and day the 2:20 class, purse $400, was won by Helen Leyburn. Time—2:20 1/2, 2:18 1/2, 2:19 1/2, 2:20.

A Chicago exchange says: "The man who offered those many thousands of dollars for Boreal last fall apparently knew what he was doing; but, in view of latest developments, Scott Newman knew better. Boreal is probably as well bred a colt as there is in the country. His sire, Bow Belle, 2:19 1/2, is by Rhettmore, out of beautiful Belle, 2:50; dam of seven in the 2:30 list. Boreal's dam is Rose Morn, by Alcantara, 2:23, son of George Wilkes and Alma Mator, dam of eight in the list. Rose Morn's dam was Nootside, 2:20 1/2, by Harold, and Nootside was foaled by Midnight, the dam of Jay-Eye-Saw, 2:10; Moonside, 2:20 1/2, and Electricity, 2:17 1/2. A colt chiming kin to so many of the greatest brood mares should prove a great trotter himself and a great sire."

A first class 25 horse power portable saw mill complete, and, if needed, a good corn mill, all in complete order. Price and terms reasonable. For particulars address Maytown Mill Co., Maytown, Ky.

RAM'S HORN RELIGION.

Genius is a curse unless it loves truth.

It takes hard times to make some people thankful.

They can do the best work who know best how to rest.

A stony heart and an iron will are a bad combination.

Some men seem to have been made out of dust that had gravel in it.

When the devil fishes for an idler he catches him with a bare hook.

There isn't much difference between a devil and a bad man educated.

The man who can smile and won't do it cheats others and robs himself.

The poor have a thousand joys that the money of the rich cannot purchase.

The sin we are slowest to forgive is often the one we are most apt to commit.

The worst pit of misfortune into which a man can fall is the one he digs himself.

It is doubtful if culture will ever be able to make a man stop snoring in his sleep.

Since the day Moody said, "I am working for God," he has always had plenty to eat in the house.

There is a power in the cry of a penitent sinner that all the wisdom of the world cannot overthrow.

The devil was more anxious to destroy Job's influence for good than he was to destroy his property.

When the devil wants to do an extraordinary day's work he sometimes puts on a preacher's coat and hat.

As long as there is a poor man in the world, the money of a rich man will show what he thinks of Christ.

The man who looks through prejudice is always ready to swear that there is something green in sunlight.

God never calls anybody to a work that can be done with head and hands without any help from the heart.

No church is ever made a bit stronger by having an unrepentant sinner with a pocket full of money walk up and join it.

The first business of the preacher, according to Paul, ought to be to tell the world what God thinks and says about things.

It would be a long time before the devil would get discouraged, if none were preachers except the few who wear long-tailed coats.

As much preaching had been said at the heart as there has been at the head, the millennium would have dawned long ago.

St. Paul was a preacher who never used any whitewash, and when he described sin everywhere in the congregation knew what he was talking about.

When angels see church pillars on their way to the parsonage with wormy hams and crooked wood, they are probably puzzled to understand why God holds the judgment back.

FROM CAMPTON.

One of Our Former Correspondents Favours Us With a Letter.

As it seems like your correspondents of this place have dropped off and passed away into oblivion, I will give you a few items, as I always like to read the interesting columns of THE HERALD. When I desire consolation I go and peruse the many things contained in the columns of our only county paper, and, lo, find it. The appreciation and interest taken in it by the good people are unimagined. Like "old time religion" it is good enough, not only for me, but for all.

The all-wise, immutable One has greatly blessed the farmers of this section with a good refreshing rain, and it looks like that circumstances will, at last, crown their efforts with prosperity and plenty, and let sunshine and peace reign supremely in their hearts.

The Republicans met in mass convention at the court house Saturday and appointed delegates to attend the district convention to be held at West Liberty the 23rd for the purpose of nominating a man for Congress to fill on the unexpected term caused by the death of Hon. M. C. Lisle. In the time of it handsome speeches were made by Z. T. Harst, Dr. Wiley Steele and Benj. Sewell. Our young friend Sewell in his speech said: "Would it not be well to have the spirit of demagogism, factionalism and sectionalism wiped out of existence, and let the true spirit of statesmanship, patriotism and Americanism enter the halls of legislation?" We think it would, but we fear it would break into the ranks of the Republican party as well as into the party (2) to which he was referring.

Mrs. J. N. Vaughan and family, who have been visiting relatives in Montgomery and Menefee counties for two weeks, returned home Monday. Mrs. Vaughan was well pleased with her visit after she arrived and found the "store" at home. Rev. Thomas preached an able sermon to the people here Sunday. A colored brother preached in the court house in the evening, advocating the theory that it takes "Grit, grace and greenback to run religion." No one can depict the unsearchable riches and trample beneath his feet the dark theocracy of God.

Benj. Sewell, who is teaching the Spring branch school on Italy, was seen in our town Saturday and Sunday, and says he likes the work splendidly. Ben has been taking much delight in searching the fields of oratory, but if he judge right by his actions, which speak louder than words, we believe that he has come to the conclusion now that it suits him better to explore the perennial fields of love. He likes to have his sport; is an excellent hunter and has been having remarkable success in catching birds in traps, but we are of the opinion that he will have to devise some other plan to catch that one he seems to be working after now.

All eyes are turned toward the Hazel Green Fair, which is booming and promises to be a success in every particular. Look out, we are coming! The school teachers' institute of this county will begin the 27th of this month. Under the management of A. F. Byrd, our able and efficient Superintendent, who has just recently taken the seat of office, we predict that it will be enjoyable, instructive and interesting in every respect.

We rejoice to say that Campton is furnishing a goodly number of school teachers this year. All who have schools have commenced, and report everything flourishing, the banners waving triumphantly with large numbers of the young minds being taught how to "shoot" under the shining folds—or under their instructions. It does seem rather strange though to see the young men come "tottering" in every Friday evening. There must be something here wonderfully attractive and drawing to them besides "home, sweet home" if we know a windmill when we see it in operation. The maintenance of law and order, the higher standard of citizenship, and a higher standard of civilization for future days depend largely on the young minds that are instructed in the school rooms; and the teachers should ever bear in mind that they have a great and noble work to perform and an important mission to fill.

THE STORMY PETREL.

Under Superintendence of Old Sailors About the Bird.

One of the best known of the sea birds is the stormy petrel. It is oftenest seen during storms flying above the waves in search of the shell-fish and other small animals that are brought to the surface by the tempest, says St. Nicholas. The sailors call petrels "Mother Carey's chickens," and do not view them with much favor, owing to their being constant companions of storms. "Jack" thinks that rough weather may be expected when he sees petrels about and is not quite sure that they do not in some way cause the tempest. When the bird is on the lookout for its prey it seems to walk on the water. Hence the seamen of olden time, in allusion to the Apostle Peter's walking on the water, called the bird petrel, from the Latin Petrellus, "Little Peter."

So far from the bird being superstitious as to the capture of another kind of petrel, the cape pigeon, which is of black-and-white color and about the size of a tame pigeon, I have known "Jack" to take a hand occasionally in capturing them as a bit of recreation during a dog-watch.

In southern latitudes the cape pigeons follow a ship in thousands. A common bottle cork is tied to the end of a piece of thread and trailed astern so that the cork touches the water. This gives the required tautness to the thread.

As the birds fly in clouds from side to side astern some of them constantly strike the thread with their wings and the resistance is enough to turn them over it when the thread is wrapped around the wing and the bird is hauled on board. In this manner I have seen hundreds caught in a day.

On one occasion a clipper ship carrying passengers to India captured pigeons by hundreds and the surgeon by some mischance succeeded in entangling a stormy petrel.

Now, the doctor was an enthusiastic naturalist and what to the sailors is known as a "land-hubber"—that is, he was on his first voyage. The doctor at once took the specimen to his cabin and made preparations to skin and preserve it. In hot haste a deputation of seamen, headed by the old gray-haired salt-maker, came aft with a request that the petrel be set at liberty, saying that otherwise the ship and all on board would surely suffer.

The doctor, somewhat surprised, intended to take the bird free, but his enthusiasm as a naturalist prevailed over the superstitious warning and when the sailors had disappeared the bird was added to his collection. The fact soon became known forward among the men and the doctor was regarded with black looks by the crew for the remainder of the voyage.

In the course of time the good ship anchored in the Hugli river and that day at dinner the doctor suddenly died.

There was a gathering of the sailors around the whilldust that dog-watch and the doctor's sudden death was attributed by the superstitious sailors to his slaughter of the stormy petrel.

SOME SMART KIDS.

PARENT—"What is the difference between the regular and the irregular Greek verbs?" Tommy—"You get twice as many lickings learning the irregular ones."

VICTOR—"Don't you wish you had a little brother, Bobby?" Bobby—"Well, long about peach time, I think one little boy in a family is enough; but, long about spanking time, there ought to be two of us."

AMY ASHLEY (crushing the next-door little girl's shoulder of her knowledge of style)—"When you eat your meal at night do you call it dinner or supper?" Tossie (of the alley tenement)—"We call it lucky."

SAFETY IN CHURCH—Johnnie, of Chicago—"Pop, how far is New York from here?" Father—"About a thousand miles." Johnnie—"I guess that's why New York talks about us so loud and mean."—Detroit Free Press.

PURPOSE MAIDEN AUNT (trying to amuse Kate, who has come to spend the day)—"Oh, see pussy washing her face!" Infant (with scorn)—"She's not washing her face. She's washing her feet and wiping them on her face."

* MATCHES AND MATCHES—Johnnie—"Mamma, I heard the preacher say today that matches were made in Heaven. Is it so?" Mamma—"Of course. Why not?" Johnnie—"Well, I don't see any use for matches. There's no night there."

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

A THREE-EYED girl of rare beauty is said to be a coming sensation in Europe.

A WONDERFUL pig is owned by J. W. Garrison, of Flat Creek, N. C. It has two heads, two tails, three eyes and six legs.

AT Buchanan, Ga., W. A. Keith found a stone of the blue blint variety in the heart of a solid pine tree.

A HARK in Flain waters recently undertook to swallow a four-hundred-pound turtle, tall first, but after getting his prey down as far as the forward flippers was obliged to disgorge.

A BREAK in the main water pipe in a street in Tomlinstone, A. T., was found to have been caused by the roots of a tree, which had grown around the pipe and crushed it so that it burst.

Put Out in Just Ten Seconds.

Our citizens to the number of two or three hundred gathered on the burnt district here, on last Monday afternoon at two o'clock, to witness the exhibition made by the Cincinnati Tin and Japan Fire Extinguisher Co. The test was given under the personal supervision of Mr. Herman B. Walls, president of the company, of Cincinnati, and Mr. W. V. Snyder, the local agent, of Georgetown, Ohio, and was satisfactory in every respect, clearly demonstrating the Stempel Extinguisher to be one of the best methods yet devised or invented for the controlling of fire.

A structure of pine boards was built, and after being thoroughly saturated with coal-oil, a match was applied. The extinguisher was then turned on and the fire put out in about ten seconds. All who witnessed the test were thoroughly satisfied that the Stempel will do all and more than is claimed for it. The headquarters of the company are N. E. Cor. Synamore and Canal Sts., Cincinnati—Winchester (Ohio) Herald.

"Oh, yes; I were the only witness there. Billy Lilly he was dead, you know, and that rattlin' Owen Caruthers he were the tother, and he were laid up with one o' his rheumatiz spells, that come on him sometimes by his takin' no keer o' himself. Pearce Amereson's mind were as sound as it ever were, certain and sure, and it kept so long as I see him to talk with him, if I'm any judge."

"Yet he told Cullen, several times, a month before he died, and in the presence of Cullen's wife, that he had no will, and that Willy had persuaded him against it, saying as they were only two, both of age, they could divide the estate between themselves."

"Is that so?" he asked, in much solemnity.

"It is."

"Well, then, there's obliedged to be something rotten somewhere. Pearce Amereson were a truth-tellin' man, after all, like me, he were not a perceptor o' religion. If he said them words, he believed 'em."

"The diffident, Mr. Flint, is in establishing this. Cullen is dead, and could not testify if alive; neither can his wife. The law, as I told you, will stand to a will that is fairly made, but the law never lends countenance to and in my very jaws all the way down; and so when I got a man and knowed I could git it whenever I wanted it, I made up my mind I'd never take it when I see I wanted it too bad. Of course, 'bout the colic or some 'nother case o' sickness. Well, sir, the rule have worked wonderful. It's a hard one at the start, but if a man'll just drink a little stiff upper lip he can feller her. That's what I know straight-forwards. Many times somethin' happen and my jaws gits to a waterin' and a cold sweat for a dram, then I clump 'em together tight, and I says to 'em: 'No, jess, you want it too servigious, and so I let it go.' It's the only safest way to them that has a nat'ral strong likin' for the article. I'm not a-dayin' that this very minute, she's the ezitement on my mind, that I want one 'nother, and that strenuous;

"YOU WANT TO KNOW HOW COME I NOT TO BE A DRUNKIN' MAN?"

but I'm too old to begin to break my rule at this time o' day in my life. God bless you, Gustus. You make 'em as good as I ever want to taste; but far you well, Gustus."

He bestowed a kind look of farewell upon the speaker, then, resolutely chiding his jaws, came out, went for his horse, and rode away.

CHAPTER XV.

The most welcome of the few persons who visited at the house of Mrs. Caruthers was Rachel. Yet he seldom went there except when Owen was down with his rheumatic spells, that had become more frequent lately because he had been in possession of more pocket money than was usual, and so was in condition to resort to drinking places other than the "Big Indian." Suspecting where such supplies came from, Rachel's remonstrances upon them, his answering limbo to the wayward cripple, not counting those of other kinds, had given rise to much gratitude in the mother. Her chief income was from a two-thousand-dollar state bond bearing eight per cent interest. Her black woman, Sally, besides house, did washing and other outside jobs, for which the neighbors paid more than liberal prices. Then she raised more vegetables and got from the cow more milk than the family needed, and the surplus was easily disposed of. The cottage was on the street south of the Capitol square. It had a ground floor, on which were the kitchen and Sally's bedchamber. Above this were two rooms, a small parlor and another serving for both eating and sleeping. To these one ascended by steps leading from and along the street, fronting on a narrow portico, on which mother and son sometimes sat of summer evenings. From a corner of the rear room a flight of winding stairs led up to the attic where Owen slept. The place was kept scrupulously neat even the back yard and the garden, wherein, besides vegetables, were fruit-trees and grapevines. Last of the few slaves once belonging there, Sally was devoted to her mistress and always ready to apologize for Owen's shortcomings. Whenever he was late returning home at night, she would wait his mother to bed, and, comfortably nodding the while, awaited him. On his return, she let him in softly, laid something hot in the kitchen ready if he desired it, cautioned him against disturbing the sleeper, and, after he had been disposed of, went to bed and slept like a baby. Awakened at cock-crowing, she rose with alacrity, and laid out breakfast ready the minute it was wanted.

When Owen's rheumatism was upon him a couch in his father's chamber was laid, which he accepted with more or less complaining during his confinement. Between mother and son had grown at last an understanding that prevented domestic strife. The latter's irregularities were never commented upon there, except between Mrs. Caruthers and Sally, whose excuses and palliations were careful, clever, heaven, the best consolation to the mother.

"Mistress," Sally said, "I'm times, 'when Marce Owen was or he are foteh live to top-head, Marce Gus Rachel, it's all because he don't wanted to git no it's because he's died and can't help it, on dat ain't no mighty o'ra. Now, you know yourself it ain't, en you earn' depy it. It mostly when he git money from dat. M's Willy Amereson; dat when it mostly air."

"Yes, and I wish the poor boy had never seen him."

"Ah, well, my miss, de Lord'll per-wide; de Serjeant say dat."

One night, after Owen had been in bed near a week, Rachel came in. A visit from him always gratified the widow and was flattering to Owen. He demanded and got a fromer, and so disposed himself as to appear a becoming object of sympathy. The visitor, well understanding his soft, feeble words of greeting, after shaking hands passed on to the fireplace where his mother was sitting, took a chair and chatted with her about several matters in the town. In a little while he said: "The law of the land lets 'em to have their opinion about the way old man Amereson left his property, and I thought I'd ask what you thought of it."

"Why, Mr. Rachel, I do think it's the very outrageousest and the meanest will that I ever heard of anybody's making; be they respectable or disreputable."

"Int, ma?" cried Owen, as if impatient at another of her oft-repeated expressions in the matter. "You won't consider that the law of the land lets everybody do what they please with their property when they're done with it themselves."

"So I've heard you say often, my son, and been told so by other people. But I can't help from having my opinion that it is a pity for a man to give a mighty high every bit of his property to one child, and him not a-doesing of it nigh as much as the other that's ent down to what in comparison is a little scrap."

"You are perfectly right, Missus Caruthers," said Mr. Rachel, "but the kind of mild rebuke towards the couch."

"Such as that is a pity, and gently it's founded on some sort of devilement, some's; and it's another pity that devilement can't always be found out. People all over the county is disgusted with such treatment of Cullen Amereson, who was worth more than a cow-sen of the other child, and him now dead, but leaving a widow and child—Owen," and he turned directly towards him, "you ought to know something about that will business. You was one of the witnesses."

"Yes, tuss, I was. As for the old man Amereson not being in his sound wits, there weren't any sort of doubt about that."

"Nobdy denies that; but the question is how come he to make such a will, and the question is what he done with it afterwards. Did you know what was in it when you signed it?"

"That I didn't, no more than Billy Lilly and old man Flint, not one rain."

"Did you never hear the old man and Willy talk anything about it?"

"Well now, tuss," removing the coverlet from off his breast, "there's such a thing about a man's wits as to be particular in the way a fellow talks about anything that he wasn't expectin' to talk at all."

"Owen, just right here, before just me and your mother, you said as well come down off that high horse, which it's no occasion for you to be there at such a time and on such a matter, and you know in after no mean time in trying to get you to say what you mightn't."

"You've got to tell some true in the court house what you know. I can tell you as a friend, that never tried to tell you a lie in your life, that your telling me what you know won't hurt you, and it may do good when it's nigh plain some good ought to be done if it can be done."

"Lord, tuss Rachel," he answered, with some scorn, yet showing that he felt that he was with his superior. "I'm on no high horse, and don't want to be. You know I know you're a friend to me—and na—the best we've got, and I'm not afraid you want to get me into difficulties. I know monstrous little about the thing anyway, and—"

"What did the old man say to Willy about making the will?"

"You interrupt a man that way, when I was going on to say that I'd happen to hear the old man say, one time, and not but one time, that if that pleb, Hannah Enlow, expected to get any of his property, she'd find herself disappointed. She might disgrace the family, he said, but she'd get nothing by it. He said them words, or some like 'em, one day as he came in the office room, when he was just writing, from out the back room, where him and Mr. Amereson had been talking together for some time. I don't think he saw me. If he did, he didn't notice, but went on out. That was the day before the will was signed. That's every blessed thing I know about it. When he come in the office with Billy Lilly and old man Flint, he just called for that paper from Mr. Amereson, and then signed it, and called on us to witness it, and then him and the other two, when the thing was over, they got up and went straight out the office."

"He left the will with Willy, didn't he?" and you saw what was in it afterwards, didn't you?"

Mrs. Ellen Swango has been sick for several days, but is now some better.

Miss Mattie Quicknell, and Miss Lizzie Cox, of Mt. Sterling, are visiting at West Liberty.

Wolfe county teachers should unite to make the coming Teachers' Institute a big success.

Prof. Cord and wife attended the State Meeting at Lexington this week, and will be home Saturday.

"Aunt" Sallie Trimble is again confined to her bed by illness, and Miss Rosa continues a patient, Christian sufferer.

Mrs. Bicket Day has our thanks for a basket of nice cucumbers and tomatoes, and they are the finest we have seen this year.

Mrs. Floyd Day, nee Ross Kash, and little daughter Golden, of Clay City, are visiting Mrs. Days' parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kash.

Wm. Cruys, of Red River, and Newton Lacy, of Lacy's creek, swapped farms a few days ago, and will move to their new residences soon.

John Mettillaway, recently of Mt. Sterling and a gauger under the Harrison administration, is reported as mysteriously missing from his home in Covington.

The editor was on Monday much pleased with a visit from Master Jesse Kash, who this week blossomed in his first breeches, he being just twenty months old.

Mrs. Ellen Kash requests us to announce that she will take boarders during the Fair, and give them the best the market affords at fair reasonable rates. Call and see her.

BOARDING.—Mrs. F. N. Day desires to announce to the people who may attend the fair that she will be prepared to give them meals promptly and at reasonable figures.

Elder J. T. Pieratt will preach at the Bill Harrel school house next Saturday at 3 p. m. and at night, and Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. He will also attend to the ordinance of baptism while there.

When in Hazel Green don't forget to call on J. M. Havens, the jeweler, at John M. Ross's store and have your watches, pins, spectacles, etc. repaired. All work guaranteed and prices as low as good work can be done.

Editor HERALD: Just closed our meeting at Stillwater; 40 additions to christianity made; a good meeting. I go to Holly Creek to hold one until after Sunday next. Expect a good meeting at that place.

J. M. Havens, jeweler, has located in Hazel Green and will be found at the store of John M. Ross, bringing your watches and fine jewelry to him for repairs. He is a first-class workman and guarantees his work at the most reasonable prices.

The church of Christ held a good meeting at Bethsalem in Morgan county last Saturday and Sunday. Elders H. H. Little, most generally known as Old Father Little, A. B. Tamper, W. H. Taulbee and Rudolph Gibbs were the preachers present. There was one reclaimed, and the people thanked the Lord at they had heard the gospel preached once more.

The report that the Wilmore net Band has disbanded is, a manufacture by a low down principled person. The boys practicing every night, and we ordered their uniforms. This and will be in perfect trim for Hazel Green Fair, and without doubt will be the leading attraction at Hazel Green, Sept. 4-7.—Wolfe County Messenger.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.
John Wenton, Kentucky, under date of the 17th inst., says he will be here on the 26th, and hold the Teachers' Institute on the 27th. He requests us to ask the teachers of the county to give the program, as found in the "Official Manual and Note Book for Institutes." Some attention asks them each to prepare a paper on some special topic to be read at the Institute. He says if the teachers will do this he is confident they will have one of the best institutes ever held in the county. Prof. Cord is especially well equipped for institute work by reason of his large experience as a teacher here and elsewhere, and we hope every teacher in the county will do his or her utmost to make the coming Teachers' Institute one of the best ever held in the mountains.

A union meeting was held at Greasy school house in Morgan county Saturday and Sunday by Revs. John Adams, Frank Crouch and Isaac Murphy of the Methodist church, and Elder J. T. Pieratt of the church of Christ. Rev. John Adams and Elder J. T. Pieratt preached in the forenoon on Sunday, after which a good dinner was served on the grounds. In the afternoon Revs. Crouch and Murphy preached to an attentive audience. They had a grand, good time, and every body went to their homes rejoicing. This is what they consider the true Christian union.

The following from the editor of the Mountain Evangelist is a handsome compliment to Hazel Green Academy, and one that the people here will appreciate:

GRAYSON, Ky., July 17.
Dear Bro. Cord: Command me and the pages of the Mountain Evangelist for all I am, and for all they are worth to advance the interests of the Academy. Your catalogue was something of a surprise, a pleasant one to me. While I knew there was a school there I had no idea it was so extensive or complete. Hurrah for the mountains. Your brother,

R. B. NEAL.
Will Tyler on Tuesday received a postal card stating that Mr. Joseph Allen, Miss Tommie Allen and Johnnie Allen are all sick, the former quite ill. Eli Williams' wife is also sick as is John Quicknell's wife. Mary Johnson, who has been quite ill, is now recovering. They all live on Johnson Fork of Licking in Madison county. Mr. Tyler and his wife, who was a Miss Allen before marriage, started for Hazard yesterday morning, so that Mrs. Tyler can be at the bedside of her mother, the first named in the list.

What is the matter with the mail? Our regular Gumption and Ezell correspondence did not reach us till Wednesday evening, though the former was mailed Monday and the latter Tuesday. Another communication from Ezell did not reach us until Wednesday, though mailed Tuesday, and two postal cards were delayed the same way. All of these were marked "misent." Who is to blame?

The number and quality of the horses at the Fair Grounds for training indicates that the coming Fair is to be one of the best, or perhaps the best, that we have yet had. It is now known that some twenty-five or thirty horses will contend for the different purses offered by the Association, and the sport in this line promises to be exceptionally good.

Willie Alexander, John McDonald, David Conley and Robert Kidd, of Mt. Sterling, who have been engaged here for two or three weeks past in painting several pieces of property for Hon. W. O. Miller, left Saturday for home, and we will not be surprised if Willie finds his way back here frequently.

At Cost.—Mrs. F. N. Day will close out her entire line of summer hats and trimmings at less than cost rather than carry them over, and now is your chance to buy them. Ladies' trimmed hats can now be had at from 50c to $1.50. Give her a call.

Jack Halsey & Co. are expected here by Saturday with their trotters and pacers, numbering about five hundred and they will remain till after the Fair.

Mrs. Lizzie Jones, of Glenview, is visiting her sister Mrs. S. D. Shackelford.

The recent rains have given to all a new life in this section. Farmers are merry.

Miss Ida Murphy, daughter of Isaac Murphy, of Grassy, was visiting in town several days during the past week.

J. L. Williams was taking depositions Saturday in the suit of A. J. Holton, vs. himself. The suit is concerning a note.

Died, on last Thursday, Mrs. Samuel Duff, of fever. She had been ill for some time. Her remains were interred in the Campton cemetery on Friday.

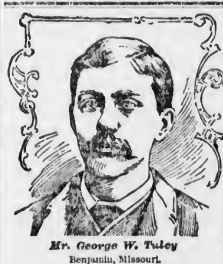

Two ladies who are to teach the public school at Maytown this fall were the guests of Rev. J. W. Doane Saturday night and went to Maytown Sunday.

Samuel H. Hurst is now teaching on Brush creek, in Lee county. He was examined at Beattyville at the last examination and obtained a general average of 92 per cent.

At the request of those whose names seem to be connected with the article in your issue of Aug. 2, entitled, "A disgraceful affair," I desire to try to put them in their proper light. We have nothing to say about the editor in this connection, because we believe that he related the story just exactly as it had been reported to him. But the reporter was not fully advised as to the facts in the case. The school and the "aid" being different affairs it should have been treated in a separate article, perhaps, unless the connection had been more clearly proven. On the 9th of July instead of the 6th, the trustees met and hired no teacher. W. J. Rose never resigned on that day, and never went to Campton and resigned at all. The two teachers never taught a week together but only taught one-fourth of a day. There was perhaps some one at Elijah Rose's house on Saturday night, and we don't to make against Rose in the way of public sentiment, we out a variant against him and two others, as shown by the affidavit published. Elijah took part of their affidavit back on the trial, and added some more to it. The men proved a very clear and conclusive and were acquitted. Elijah was clearly guilty to be a member of a school, and his reputation, which somewhat impaired the testimony on tending to establish a fact. Supt. Horton never deposed Miss Senguer or any body else, but only testified that her control was not a valid one, such as entitled her to teach the school and draw the public money for same. His decision has been reversed by Supt. Thompson, and his decision has been appealed from to the State Board. Aves.

The Directors of the Hazel Green Fair Association are requested to meet in this place on Saturday, August 25, at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance is requested as business of importance will come before the board. H. F. PIERATT, President.

Mr. George W. Tuley Benjamin, Missouri.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A SUMMER of athletic young ladies of Portland, Me., have formed a walking club. Its members devote two afternoons a week to pedestrianism.

LADY EVA QUINN, wife of Capt. Wyndham (her presumptive of the earl of Dunraven), has killed six full-grown tigers from the frail shelter of a howdah.

YORKE BUTTERWORTH, who did such good work for Yale in the football match, is the son of Maj. Ben Butterworth, for many years a representative in congress from Ohio.

ARIZONA is coming into line in these days of the turf and races. A strong jockey club is being formed in Tucson, and it is probable an Arizona racing circuit will soon be established.

DANIEL KENNEDY, eighty-four years of age, of Knox, Mo., is a hale and hearty hunter. He was camping this fall on the Passagussawakeg, where he sustained his reputation as a trapper and hunter.

ROCKFORD, the chess player, could play twelve games simultaneously, but no more, not being able to begin the thirteenth. After such an exacting feat of his brain showed that his molecules were arranged in squares like that of a chessboard.

AGRICULTURE IN EUROPE.

In France asparagus must have two qualities—size and flavor. The soil must possess a double property; it must be light and rich. The richness can be obtained by manures, but the light quality is a purely geographical question.

THE violet crops in the south of France gave only a moderate yield this season, not quite sufficient to supply the local manufacturers. For several years the violet plants have suffered from a blight that has injured the flowering.

Exports are being made to have a sanitarium established, as a landing place for foreign animals subject to slaughter, near Newcastle, England, in order that cattle and sheep from Canada and America may be imported there direct.

Rose plantations, started two years ago in the neighborhood of Leipzig, Germany, gave such brilliant results that they are being extended. They kept well during the last long and severe winter, and their condition this season has left nothing to be desired.

ECHOES OF EUROPE.

LITTLE GEMS.

THERE is a great difference between having to say something and having something to say.—Dr. A. T. Pierson.

We know not how much we love the world, till we find pain and difficulty in parting with its good things.—Wilson.

WHEN one has enough light to perceive that one is mistaken, and too much vanity to own it, and instead of turning back one goes still deeper into one's errors, it is the progress and the consolation of pride.—Chateaubriand.

WHEN what you read elevates your mind and inspires you with high and noble feelings, do not seek for any other rule by which to judge the composition; it is good, made by the hand of an experienced workman.—La Bruyere.

GEN. CAMBRIDGE did not surrender guard dies, but does not surrender. The words were the invention of a Paris Journalist, and attributed to him.

BLONDEL, the harper, did not discover the prison of King Richard. Richard paid his ransom, and the receipt for it is among the Austrian archives.

HORATIA never defended the bridge. The story was manufactured by the same gifted author who gave to the world the account of Scaevola's heroism.

CENAR did not cross the Rubicon. It lay on the opposite side of the Italian peninsula from the point where he left his own possessions and entered Italy.

THE Bridge of Sighs at Venice has no romance worthy the name. Most of the unfortunate who cross it are petty thieves who are sent to the workhouse.

PEOPLE OF WASHINGTON.

MRS. YE CHA YIM, wife of the first secretary of the Korean legation at Washington, is the first Korean lady of the nobility who ever left her native land.

SECRETARY HOK SMITH is said to be the hardest worker in the cabinet. He gets up at seven o'clock in the morning and does not go to bed earlier than midnight.

FIRST AUDITOR BALDWIN, the youngest of the treasury auditors, can be found at his desk at any hour of the day industriously engaged on accounts in which a correct pencil invariably entitles a figure.

MRS. CLEVELAND has had only one photograph taken for several years, and only about a dozen prints were made from it. To a publisher who asked leave to reproduce it she replied that since her marriage she had had no picture that was not public property and she wished to keep this for her own.

FOOD FOR THE WORLD.

THE average man uses twenty-nine pounds of sugar per annum.

CITRUS estimated yield of peaches in this country is 8,000,000 bushels.

WE produce and eat every year about 140,000 tons of beet root sugar.

EUROPEANS every year eat 6,470,000 pounds of beef, mutton and pork.

THERE are 50,000,000 bushels of peas annually grown in this country.

ONLY 10 per cent. of the sugar we consume is grown in this country.

THE purple yield of this country is estimated at 40,000,000 bushels.

VITIATED AIR.

Impurity of the Atmosphere of Steam-Heated Buildings.

In an article contributed to the Philadelphia Record by Dr. F. A. Adams, the inquiry is propounded whether the immense increase of steam-heated office buildings, in which the great majority of rooms have no adequate means for the removal of the air, has not, in a large measure, accounted for the prevalence of pneumonia among middle-aged men.

Many of these buildings, Dr. Adams says, are admirably constructed to keep out air, whether cold or hot; this very perfection contributing to their insalubrity. In these hermetically sealed office rooms that abound in business buildings the steam heats the atmosphere to a delightfully comfortable degree, and the occupant breathes and re-breathes the air during zero days when an open window cannot be endured, the effect being to silently undermine his powers of resistance, so that when he goes forth, exchanging such tropical air for the keen breeze of unrestricted nature, it happens that, through some subtle change in his system which has robbed his lungs of their power of resistance, their capacity to endure the onset or transition is gone and the subtle poison of unrenewed air does its deadly work in the form of pneumonia.

FOUR PROVERBS.

CONTENTMENT is the proper punishment of affection.

EVERY man believes he carries the heavy end of the log.

The empty vessel makes the most noise, but it has nothing in it.

THERE are two obstacles in the way of the self-conceited man. What you tell him is too thin and his head is too thick.—Alpharatta (dia.) Enterprise.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is enclosed. I refer to any county officials as to my reliability. W. W. BOAZ, J. P. Primory, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by John M. Rose.
